2019 end-of-year club challenge.

Music is – or has been – part of all our lives at some time or other. A nursery rhyme mum used to sing to you, first love, special people, events, times or places……..these things are often remembered through music.

This year's challenge is about using some of those music memories as the stimulus and producing an image or a series of images around it.

There's no minimum or maximum number of images, there's no restrictions on style, your 'piece' can be complemented by props…..or not……it's entirely up to you and your imagination.

Music – or your connection to it - is the stimulus for this challenge……your interpretation can be as creative or as literal as you like.

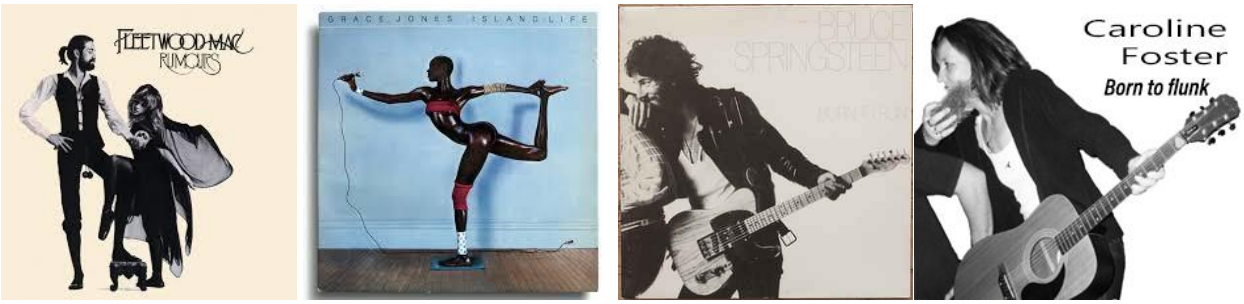
Here's a few starters if you find yourself stuck for inspiration:

- Re-create a favourite album cover or covers from your teenage years
- Create a photographic piece based on the lyrics of a favourite song
- Create an album of your life so far……or an event in your life

Prints are the preferred final product but an AV will be OK so long as you use your own laptop to present it on the final night. If you choose to use music as a background be aware that there could be a lot of competing noise at presentation night.

Presentation night will be your chance to share your creation with everyone and also to share the story of your creation…..

Re-create your favourite album covers….



…use lyrics as the stimulus for your image or images

Use song titles as your stimulus, for example, Vivaldi 4 Seasons
